He gave his name as Mitchell Har-dy, 11 years old, of Brookport, Ill. He told the police he was about to return home and give up what was left advertising and the expense of sale. of the money when the police found i

OgdenBusiness EVIDENCE NEARLY

Ihornton Hains Depressed Since He Left the Witness Stand

Flushing, Jan. 9.-A few words spoken in rebuttal and sur-rebuttal to-day, and all the evidence in the trial of Thornton J. Hains will be in. The testimony of many witnesses will be in and Prosecutor Darrin said that he had reason to believe that both sides G. A. Graves, the architect, has moved to rooms 38 and 39, Lewis Blk. would be ready to sum up on Monday Thornton Hains has been visibly de pressed since he left the witness stand Thursday.

"It's only natural that I should feel the strain of the trial," said Hains, when so much depends upon the outcome. No man knows what twelve men will do, but as I have read the faces of the men who will judge the facts, I have no fears of a conviction.

"My only fear, however, is a possi-bility of disagreement, which means another long stay in jail, perhaps, be-fore I can get a new trial. On the evi-dence, I should be acquitted, and my best belief is that I will be found not guilty."

Warden Sleth of Queen's county fall, testified in rebuttal that he saw Policeman Fallon seated next to the defendant on the night of the coroner's inquest, when Thornton Hains is said to have told the officer that he would go to hell to get Annis and kill him again." Fallon was recalled and testified that he was in the Flushing station house when Captain Hains was brought in, and the captain answered the interrogations put to him by the desk lieutenant regarding his age, name, business and birthplace of his parents and 'nimself. The officer de-scribed the speech and manner of Captain Hains. This testimony was brought out to show that Captain

Hains, after the shooting, was able to act and speak in a rational manner. Fallon further said that Captain Hains said, in the cell, he wanted to send a message to his father. Witness identified a piece of paper that the army officer had written in jall after the shooting and Justice Crane ruled that it might only be admitted as evidence bearing upon the captain's san ity and not upon facts contained re-garding the shooting.

Prosecutor Darrin read the paper to he jury as follows: "General Peter C. Hains: Have shot

Annis. Come to Flushing police station. (Signed) "Peter."

From what he heard and saw, Falon said he thought Captain Hains was rational. The prosecution called other members of the Bayside Yacht club, who testified that they did not see John Tierney on the float. Tierney is an ash-collector, and was one of the important witnesses for the defense The club members further denied statements which Thornton Hains tes tified he made at the time of the shoot-They also characterized speech of Captain Hains as rational. Charles Roberts, a club member, was recalled and testified.

"I pulled Annis from the short conversation with him, went over and picked up a piece of sail cloth and put it under Mr. Annis' head and then walked behind the brothers and picked up the revolver.

Thornton Hains swore that Roberts picked up the revolver when it was knocked from the Captain's hand by John Tonning as the last shot was ired, and that it was then that he drew his own revolver.
